Generating uniformly distributed random 2-designs with block size 3

Andy Drizen

Jacobson and Matthews introduced the most hopeful method known for efficiently generating uniformly distributed Latin squares. I will discuss how the same methods can be extended to generate uniformly distributed generalisations of Latin squares and λ-factorisations of the complete graphs at random.